

The RADAR Change Network

Do you want:

- Equality for disabled people built into national and local policies from the outset?
- Full social inclusion for all disabled people?
- Your voice heard by legislators and policy-makers?
- An end to discrimination?
- To campaign locally and nationally on issues that matter?

If you have answered yes to any of the above, RADAR invites you to join the RADAR Change Network and work with other like-minded people to improve our lives as disabled people.

campaigning for change

What is it? The RADAR Change Network is designed to support groups and individuals to create a momentum for local and national change. That might mean getting involved in:

- Influencing MPs and Government to make their new policies work for disabled people – such as ‘welfare to work’ leading to careers not poverty; planning for 3 million new homes to meet disabled people’s requirements; ensuring that education to age 18 works for young disabled people.
- Influencing local organisations to ‘build equality in’ – through real engagement by local services, or making independent living a reality, or setting up your own campaign.

Why have a network and why should I join? The potential of tapping into and channelling local campaigning energy is staggering. With 11 million disabled people in the UK we can create a voice that is impossible to ignore.

What does it involve? You can get involved as much or as little as you want – from signing a petition to raising issues in the local press. The network will link people with common interests to influence change. It is open to everyone, not just RADAR members and is free to join. If you are passionate about improving the lives of disabled people, this network is for you. RADAR will provide guidance on working with MPs, the media and more.

The bottom line
 Together we are stronger
 Together we have a louder voice
 Together we can make change inevitable
